Magic Mirror, Magic Mirror, Am I Attractive Yanzhuo Niu,2021 In the recent years, photographic filters (e.g. Snapchat lenses) are gaining tremendous popularity among young people. Some filters adjust one's look to make it better align with the narrowly defined societal beauty of unblemished skin and defined facial features. College-age females are especially drawn to these tools as they are under great appearance pressure and are heavy users of photo sharing-based social media platforms. Yet, the psychosocial impacts of virtual makeover use on these young females remain unclear. Extending social comparison theory, this study considered a digitally enhanced image of self as a novel upward appearance comparison target and investigated the impact of exposure to such images on Chinese college female's self-evaluation and mood with an experimental design. A sample of 205 undergraduate female students attending a college in China participated in this study. Findings showed positive impact of virtual makeover use on Chinese college females' explicit state physical appearance self-esteem and mood but not on implicit self-esteem. For those who were exposed to a selfie with virtual makeover applied, the more enhancement they perceived, the more positive their explicit self-evaluation and mood. The extent to which these college females view physical appearance was malleable was not found to be moderating the impact of virtual makeover use on self-evaluation with this sample. Implications for future research and practical work are discussed.

In Every Mirror She's Black Lolá Ákínmádé Åkerström, 2021-09-07 A Good Morning America Buzz Pick! As seen in Vulture, Essence, Good Morning America, The Independent, Goodreads, PureWow, and many more! A sexy, surprising, searing debut about love, loss, desire, and the many dimensions of Black womanhood.—Deesha Philyaw, 2020 National Book Award Finalist & award-winning author of The Secret Lives of Church Ladies An arresting debut for anyone looking for insight into what it means to be a Black woman in the world. Three Black women are linked in unexpected ways to the same influential white man in Stockholm as they build their new lives in the most open society run by the most private people. Successful marketing executive Kemi Adeyemi is lured from the U.S. to Sweden by Jonny von Lundin, CEO of the nation's largest marketing firm, to help fix a PR fiasco involving a racially tone-deaf campaign. A killer at work but a failure in love, Kemi's move is a last-ditch effort to reclaim her social life. A chance meeting with Jonny in business class en route to the U.S. propels former model-turned-flight-attendant Brittany-Rae Johnson into a life of wealth, luxury, and privilege—a life she's not sure she wants—as the object of his unhealthy obsession. And refugee Muna Saheed, who lost her entire family, finds a job cleaning the toilets at Jonny's office as she works to establish her residency in Sweden and, more importantly, seeks connection and a place she can call home. Told through the perspectives of each of the three women, In Every Mirror She's Black is a fast-paced, richly nuanced yet accessible contemporary novel that touches on important social issues of racism, classism, fetishization, and tokenism, and what it means to be a Black woman navigating a white-dominated society. Praise for In Every Mirror She's Black: In Every Mirror She's Black is a wise and complicated exploration of the lives of three Black women in America and Sweden.
